Activities:

Day 1:

Senja island photo tour incl overnight in tent: Pick up at the airport on arrival and start our tour to Senja. At Senja island we visit the island village Husøy which is hanging on to the main island by a little bridge. We continue along the windy steep roads to Mefjordvar fishing village where we will take a walk on mount Knuten and the cave where a Russian family hid during WWII. The scenery is as taken out of a fairy-tale, there should be plenty of foto opportunities. Our night camp is in Ersfjorden right on the white coral sand beach, where the waves from the Arctic sea can be heard all night. There is no better place to view the northern lights if they choose to appear.

Day 2:

Senja island: We continue to Hamn I Senja and Gryllefjord in the morning. The area looks like it comes directly out of one of our Norwegian fairytales about Draugen, Huldra or the Trolls.

Picnick lunch or lunch at Hamn I Senja – not included.

After lunch we continue to the southern part of Senja, overlooking Dyrøya and the fjord towards Harstad. Totally change of scenery. We stay at Senja Camping for the night – which gives us the chance to shower.

Day 3:

Island hopping - Depending on license to visit Musvar island – Starting from Senja camping in the morning, back on the ferry towards Tromsø. We visit the village Ersfjord before we continue towards the island district. On our way we stop at the mountain crossing for the scenic view. Arriving at the ferry landing we board the ferry and prepare for the island district. If we are allowed to visit the little island archipelago Musvar we will go ashore on the main island for a 3 hour foto-session on the island. Note!! Stay close to the guide as this is a private island. If we cannot visit this island we will visit Vengsoy island for 3 hrs fotosession.

We continue on the ferry to Sandoy island where we turn around and return to Lauklines around midnight.

The ferry cruise: This is the ferry all islanders use as daily transport. The ferry departs Bellvik ferry quay in the afternoon. The first port of call is the fishing village Vengsoy. The village still has a lively, yet not very large, fishing industry. Around 80 people live at the island and a number of city people have cabins here. The next port of call, if the ferry is summoned, is the village Laukvik, this is now merely a holiday village. The island which is inhabited is Musvar, an archipelago of islands where the biggest island houses a family of five and one single man. This island is a remainder of the old culture which is now vanishing, a culture where people fed themselves through fishing and farming. The outermost island before we visit Vengsoy again is called Sandoy – population two. A historic village populated since the Viking age.

Night picnic on the ferry.
